NO. 003 THE GENESIS · STOCKHOLM 2022

ABBA Voyage didn't prove a model. It revealed a category.

Four artists in their late seventies appeared as their younger selves. The audience knew. They did not care. For ninety minutes, it was 1977 again.

“Real world assets that AI cannot easily replicate or disintermediate. That conviction has only strengthened.”

— BARRY DILLER

A rights-backed, purpose-built entertainment asset on the Las Vegas Strip cannot be replicated at home or on a screen.

Concert pricing. Film economics.

The one-show model has a total capitalization of approximately $357M, structured 50% equity / 50% debt.

OPERATING ASSUMPTIONS

- 01 3,000-seat purpose-built venue
- 02 One concert format. 9 shows per week, 50 weeks per year
- 03 $125 average ticket price
- 04 80% modeled occupancy

PROJECTED RETURNS

- $135M Year 1 ticket revenue
- 47% Cash-on-cash return, Year 1
- $445M Total 5-year distributable cash flow
- ~40% Capital IRR on operating cash flows

All figures are based on one concert and exclude sponsorship, advertising, and signage revenue entirely. Cost estimates are intentionally conservative.

NO. 009 FIRST TRANCHE RAISE

Secure the Foundation.

With a total capitalization of $357M and an approximate $180M equity investment, an initial tranche of ~$41M acquires the real estate first with meaningful operating upside.
