

Impossible

Fights

Every generation argues about the fights that could never happen.

• AN IMPOSSIBLE MOMENTS COMPANY

• A LIVE AVATAR SPECTACLE

• EST. 2026

NO. 002 THE FORMAT

An arena event. Not a film.

No one in the building knows how it ends.

NO. 003 THE LAUNCH SLATE

The Impossible Bouts.

NO. 004 THE MODEL

Every fight night pays seven ways.

Fight-night pricing. Film economics.

The one-show model has a total capitalization of approximately $375M, structured 50% equity / 50% debt.

OPERATING ASSUMPTIONS

- 01 3,000-seat purpose-built venue
- 02 One fight format. 9 shows per week, 50 weeks per year
- 03 $125 average ticket price
- 04 80% modeled occupancy

PROJECTED RETURNS

- $135M Year 1 ticket revenue
- 45% Cash-on-cash return, Year 1
- $445M Total 5-year distributable cash flow
- ~37% Capital IRR on operating cash flows

All figures are based on one show and exclude sponsorship, advertising, and signage revenue entirely. Cost estimates are intentionally conservative.
